

Roadmap for Cancer Control

Date: 28 May 2021

Time: 10:00-12:00

Venue: from Cancer Society Science Center & online live stream at EHIN: <https://ehin.no/artikler/road-map-for-cancer-control/>

Agenda

10:00 Welcome, and introduction – Nard Schreurs, Mari Nygård, Elisabeth Jakobsen

PART 1 (in English)

10:06 Why we need a European Road Map – iPAAC and its importance for implementation of new cancer care strategies – Prof. Tit Albrecht, National Institute of Public Health of Slovenia, leader of iPAAC JA

10:20 Genomics – opportunities and obstacles – how to apply genomics in cancer diagnostics – experiences from Europe, and the Belgian discussion on whether citizen's genome should be an individual property or a public good – Dr. Marc Van Den Bulcke, Scientific Institute of Public Health, Belgium

10:40 Innovative therapies in cancer – How available is the new generation of cancer treatment for patients across European countries? And what systems are crucial for monitoring of the effectiveness? Marianne Duperray, French National Cancer Institute

11:00 Innovative methods in Cancer Screening – how Norway explores AI and uses the world's most powerful computer power to predict who has the largest risk of cervical cancer – Dr. Mari Nygård, Cancer Registry of Norway

11:15 Summary, thank you to participants and intro to Part 2 – Elisabeth Jakobsen

PART 2 (in Norwegian)

11:20 Panel debate on Norwegian approaches to modern cancer control, therapies, and care

Participants: (TBA)

11:45 Summary and closure